Hey you! The Winnipegger who likes their food, transportation and entertainment (not to mention news) for free. Here's our current top 10 list of our favourite things in Winnipeg that are either fun or awesome — or both — and free.

Downtown Spirit:
Don't be alarmed by the big green bus. You won't have to drop any change in here. The Downtown Spirit bus services major downtown destinations every day of the week.

Outdoor concerts:
It's not limited to the Winnipeg Jazz Fest in Old Market Square. The Out to Lunch Concert Series runs Wednesdays at noon until Sept. 4 at Air Canada Park on Broadway at Donald Street.

Lessons and learning:
The Millennium Library is open six days a week, but if you're more inclined to a backdrop of symbols, horns and chords, Aqua Books is offering the Free TD Jazz Lab at 5:30 p.m. from Monday to Saturday at the library all next week. Workshops include a different Jazz Fest act everyday.

Ballet in the park:
You won't get caught in an awkward, "Excuse me, sorry," if you need to get up in the middle of the performance for a washroom break.

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet performs at the Lyric Theatre in Assiniboine Park July 27–29. Show runs from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Giveaway weekends:
There might be more use to those household goods heading for the landfill. People can pick out their newest treasure left on the curb by generous 'Peggers on Sept. 10-11.

Other freebies

- Make it something natural. Manitoba's Provincial Parks waived their entrance fees for the entire year.
- Take in a movie at the park. Movies in the Park starts every Friday night in August at Assiniboine Park. Double features are family-oriented.
- The happiest 3 Bs we know. Breakfast, BBQ and brew: Happening Friday, June 24 at Beachcombers at The Forks as part of Bike to Work Day.
- Go get yogarific outside. Yoga in the Park helps stretch out that office posture on the corner of Memorial Avenue and Broadway every Thursday at noon.
- A very Canadian pastime. Skating on the Assiniboine River in the winter is a fun, free and frosty activity perfect for bundled-up 'Peggers.

Bug-buster caught between bureaucracies

Winnipeg entomologist Taz Stuart is buzzing between city requests and provincial approvals as the Insect Control Branch tries to reduce its buffering zone for mosquito fogging.

The city asked the province for permission to do a test to see how far malathion drifts at a patch in East Kildonan earlier this week. However, the province said no matter what the tests show, they can only reduce the buffers from the current 100 metres to 90 metres.

Stuart said the city would like to abide by whatever the tests show, rather than the official provincial guidelines.

"We're trying to appease — I mean, provide our residents with our most effective program," said a visibly annoyed Stuart to a crowd of reporters.

Meanwhile, the city is expecting a second hatch of mosquitoes in the next seven days. The Insect Control Branch is continuing its larviciding program in response to receding floodwater and recent rainfall.

When asked if he thought buffering could go below 90 metres, Stuart said, "We've seen a lot of substantial studies out there and provided those to the province. There is always variations on the condition open for the environment."

WINNIPEG POLICE SERVICE HANDOUT

▶ Ryan James Gabourie

Police say children at risk

Gabourie must abide by court orders including 10 p.m. to 9 a.m. curfew, providing police photos of any appearance changes

JAMES TURNER
@METRONEWS.CA

Police and justice officials have been quietly working to give the Winnipeg public a measure of protection from a now-freed child molester who they warn is a high risk to the public.

Ryan James Gabourie, 29, walked out of Stony Mountain prison Tuesday after serving seven years for sexual crimes against children, possession of child pornography and obstructing a peace officer.

Gabourie sexually molested five young boys between five and 11 years old by sneaking into their homes through unlocked windows or doors and sexually assaulting them in their beds while their families were sleeping, police said.

The crimes shocked the city of Grand Prairie, Alta., between mid-2004 and early 2005.

Gabourie was not granted parole or statutory release from prison, early-release provisions that are usually a sure thing for federal offenders.

But since his sentence is completely finished, he must be set free, police said in a warning to the public of his imminent release.

Gabourie is expected to live at an undisclosed address in Winnipeg, something local law-enforcement has been preparing for.

On June 8, the Crown obtained an order that brought him back to Manitoba from Prince Albert, where he was serving his time.

He was brought into court a few days later and was told officials will seek a peace bond against him allowing police to watch him while back in public.

Police said they believe Gabourie will commit a "serious personal injury offence" unless they're allowed to keep their eyes on him.

While that process makes its way through the courts — his next hearing is July 11 — Gabourie gave his consent to be bound by 16 court orders now that he's free.

Air1 chopper helps take down sexual predator

In what's being called one of the most unbelievable cases this year, Winnipeg Police are crediting the Air1 chopper for helping nab a suspect after a Winnipeg teen was kidnapped, seriously sexually assaulted and dumped near St. Francois Xavier. The suspect then led police on a chase that rendered several police cruisers inoperable and resulted in four stolen vehicles, including an ATV.

The drama began in Winnipeg's Brooklands neighbourhood at 10 p.m. Wednesday night. Police said they headed down to Elgin Avenue after reports of shots being fired on the street.

Officers discovered that a man had approached a parked van that had two female teenagers inside. The man carjacked the van, saying he had a gun and sped off down the road. One girl, 16, managed to escape, but the other, also 16, did not.

CHRISD.CA

▶ Air1 chopper

While police searched the area, half an hour later they received a call from a girl in the St. Francois Xavier area, about 10 kilometres west of Winnipeg, saying she had been kidnapped, seriously sexually assaulted and needed help.

Police said the suspect, before dumping the girl, lost the van and carjacked a Pontiac Sunfire from a 21-year-old man and forced the girl into it. He drove her outside the city where the sexual assault took place.

The man then apparently left her in St. Francois Xavier and continued driving west, where he ditched the Sunfire and tried to steal a truck, failed and stole an ATV instead near Portage la Prairie. After filling up with gas and not paying for it, he continued down the highway.

The police deployed Air1, which found the quad speeding. The man refused to pull over, and pulled into a gravel-pit area. Several cop cars chasing the suspect got stuck. The man eventually abandoned the quad and ran on foot.

Police found the man near the Portage Diversion at about 1 a.m., thanks to the assistance of the canine unit. The 21-year-old man was taken into custody.

ABCs of baby fat

Daycares must promote good habits: Report

With one in five U.S. youngsters already overweight or obese by the time they start school, a new report urges steps to help prevent babies, toddlers and preschoolers from getting too pudgy too soon.

Topping the list: Better dietary guidelines to help parents and caregivers know just how much toddlers should eat as they transition from baby food to bigger-kid fare.

Contrary to popular belief, children don't usually outgrow their baby fat — and that can lead to lasting bad effects on their health as they grow, suggests the report.

Healthy weight

The new report is not about putting the very young on a diet. At the top of the report's list:

- Daycare and preschool operators should be trained in proper physical activity for young children, providing at least 15 minutes of it per hour the child spends there.
- Regulations should limit how long toddlers and preschoolers sit or stand still to a maximum 30 minutes — and limit holding babies in swings, bouncy seats or other equipment while they're awake.

"It's a huge opportunity to instil good habits at a time when you don't have to change old ones," said Leann Birch, director of Pennsylvania State University's Center for Childhood Obesity Research, who chaired the institute's panel.

Consider: Babies drink milk until they're full and then turn away. But children as young as two or three are sensitive to portion size.

"If you give them larger portions, they eat more," Birch explained.

The report makes the case that children's habits are influenced by far more than their parents — and thus it is time to expand obesity prevention to more of the other places youngsters spend time.

For example, nearly three-fourths of children ages two to five spend at least part of their day in some form of child care.

T.O. mayor backs out of Pride

Toronto Mayor Rob Ford says he will miss the city's Pride Parade next weekend because he will be at the family cottage.

Ford says going to the Huntsville cottage on the Canada Day long weekend has been a tradition in his family for 30 years.

The mayor's office says Ford will also not be attending the Pride flag-raising ceremony next week.

Francisco Alvarez, the co-chair of Pride Toronto, calls the decision disappointing and regrettable.

Alvarez says Ford is missing an opportunity to score political points by showing his solidarity with the Pride community.

Former mayors David Miller, Mel Lastman and Barbara Hall all marched in the Pride parade, which attracts more than one million people and pumps millions of dollars into the Toronto economy.

G20 cops too slow: Audit

TORONTO. As "radical elements" broke free of a G20 protest and began causing the unprecedented destruction of downtown Toronto, officers were simply unprepared to deal with the magnitude of the disorder, an internal police report concludes.

An audit by the Toronto Police Service of the force's actions during the G20 summit over June 26 and 27, 2010, was released yesterday with 10 recommendations. The report paints a picture of police resources being overwhelmed by the sudden vandalism and so-called Black Bloc protest techniques. Not enough riot police could respond, and some officers not properly trained in riot policing were forced to step in, the report says.

Bin Laden's death graphically depicted

Illustrated book set for release Sept. 6, less than a week before 10th anniversary of 9-11 attacks

The daring secret mission to get Osama bin Laden by elite U.S. forces will be told in the pages of a new graphic novel that aims to shed more light — with a bit of creative licence — on the event.

Written by retired U.S. Marine Capt. Dale Dye and Julia Dye, the 88-page hardcover Code Word: Geronimo takes a look at the mission the authors said was aimed at keeping the focus on those who planned, conducted and executed the raid.

IDW, a San Diego-based publisher known for its line of comics that includes G.I. Joe and Star Trek, said the story of how bin Laden was killed would appeal to both new and established readers.

Julia Dye called the work necessary for the nation, particularly having had to live "within the shadow" of bin Laden for so long.

The story opens with a lone traveller on a dusty road in Pakistan, a rattled pickup passing by. It quickly shifts back and forth to a U.S. compound in Afghanistan to the White House to the house where bin Laden was hiding in Abbottabad, Pakistan.

The book is drawn without gratuitous violence or gore, the artists said.

The members of SEAL Team 6 are not identified by their real names, but the equipment, planning and training that resulted in the May 1 raid are.

Dye drew on his experience in the Marines as well as contacts within the U.S. military to ensure accuracy, but not to the point of being too detailed.

Anti-Islam politician acquitted

The boundaries of free speech in Europe widened Thursday after a Dutch court acquitted politician Geert Wilders of inciting hatred against Muslims when he compared Islam with Nazism and called for a ban on the Qur'an.

Political analysts say the ruling will likely embolden Wilders and other right-wing populists across the continent to ramp up their anti-immigrant rhetoric, with remarks like Wilders' call for a "head rag tax" now squarely within the boundaries of fair political debate.

The ruling did lay down a clear limit: Calls for violence remain out of bounds.

Wilders, who has lived under constant police protection due to death threats since 2004, has never called for violence or endorsed it.

Better LET'S MAKE A DEAL
Manitoba's Plan For Stronger Consumer Protection

Most new homes in Manitoba are well-built but sometimes costly defects occur.

That is why the Manitoba government will be developing legislation to build in warranties on all new homes purchased by consumers in the province.

What defects do you think should be covered by the warranty and for how long?

In addition to houses and condominiums, should other types of new homes such as cottages and ready-to-move homes be protected by the warranty?

Share your experiences

We also want to know about your experience with a new house, condominium or other new home. If your home had construction related defects, what were they? Was your home covered by a warranty? Were the defects corrected to your satisfaction and, if not, why were you dissatisfied?

This is your opportunity to share your views with the provincial government.

A public consultation paper has been prepared that provides more information on this topic. You are invited to read this consultation paper to find out more and then let us know what you think at www.manitoba.ca/fs/warranty or by calling 945-8224 or toll free at 1-800-282-8069, ext. 8224.

Star goes gaga over Japan

If you want to help Japan recover from its tsunami disaster, come visit, says Lady Gaga.

"I can't say enough to people all over the world that the majority of Japan right now, Japan in general, is very safe," said the flamboyant pop star, in Tokyo for a benefit concert for tsunami victims.

"It's fine to come here. It's beautiful."

Many performers and athletes have cancelled appearances in Japan after the March 11 earthquake and tsunami that caused widespread destruction and a nuclear crisis.

Lady Gaga said she couldn't wait for the chance to show her support.

"The most important thing, and the best thing, we could do for Japan right now is to boost tourism, and so everyone come to Japan and come enjoy the beautiful country," she said.

Rising river spurs mad rush to save city

10,000 residents moved to safety as floodwaters move into Minot, N.D. Trailer park engulfed Missouri and Nebraska brace for trouble, too

Crews worked furiously Thursday to raise earthen levees in a last-ditch effort to protect North Dakota's fourth-largest city from floodwaters.

Trucks and loaders carried clay and dirt to waiting Bobcats that sped to and fro, spreading and tamping the material atop levees in Minot.

But as the Souris River kept rising ominously, officials acknowledged they can't stop significant damage to at least some neighbourhoods.

The workers and National Guard members were the only people to be seen — as many as 10,000 residents, or about one-fourth of Minot's population, have been moved to safety.

Parts of the city were already flooding.

One trailer park near the river was under several feet of water.

Much of Thursday's effort focused on protecting critical infrastructure, including sewer and water service.

More evacuations could become necessary if they are knocked out by flooding.

Mayor Curt Zimbelman said the sewer and water situation was "under control" but being monitored.

The river, which begins in Saskatchewan and flows for a short distance though North Dakota, was all but certain to inundate thousands of homes and businesses during the coming week.

"There are no hotel rooms, no campers to rent — nothing. It's very stressful and it's very annoying."
AQUIRA FRITT, 23, WHO IS SEVEN MONTHS PREGNANT AND PLANNED TO SPEND THE NIGHT IN A VAN WITH HER BOYFRIEND AND FIVE-YEAR-OLD SON

"There are 300 people in shelters and the others have found places with family, friends, some rentals," Zimbelman said.

"But for the long term it's going to be a very difficult situation."

Zimbelman said many people have opened their doors to evacuees.

"I tell you what, North Dakotans are pretty good people," Zimbelman said.

Minot is about 95 kilometres south of the Canadian border.

Meanwhile, in Missouri residents braced themselves for flood trouble as the Missouri River rose.

Water has started pouring over levees in Holt and Atchison counties, flooding homes and cabins.

Kentucky Derby HQ damaged

A tornado smashed stables at the home of the Kentucky Derby, but the legendary track was set to get back to racing Friday after events were postponed for a day.

No people or horses were hurt at Churchill Downs during the Wednesday night storm. Its famed twin spires, grandstand and clubhouse were undamaged.

Churchill Downs president Kevin Flanery said it was the first tornado to strike the 136-year-old track.

Workers and trainers scrambled to pull horses from stables as the storm caved in roofs and tossed debris.

Black's fate in judge's hands

It's a coin toss whether former press baron goes to jail or walks free

Conrad Black will learn whether his days of wearing an orange jumpsuit are behind him when he appears on Friday in the same Chicago courtroom where he was sentenced four years ago.

The Canadian-born former press magnate, who has been free on bail for nearly a year, will appear before U.S. Justice Amy St. Eve at a resentencing hearing. But even if Black, 66, emerges a free man, the challenge of clearing his name could prove insurmountable because he remains a convicted felon, legal experts say.

Black served more than two years of a six-and-a-half-year sentence for fraud and obstruction of justice before being released last July after the Supreme Court exposed flaws in a federal fraud law. An appeals court reversed two of his fraud convictions. THE CANADIAN PRESS

New ad campaign toasts the breadbasket

ROB GILLIES/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Hay bales dot the wheat fields outside Saskatoon. "The Prairies are Canada's wheat heartland," says Canada Bread spokeswoman Andrea Graham. The company is pairing with the Canadian Wheat Board on a joint ad campaign.

The Canadian Wheat Board and Canada Bread Co. have signed a branding deal to promote Prairie grain across the country.

The board's motto — "Canadian Wheat Makes it Good" — and maple leaf logo will appear on bags of Dempster's WholeGrains bread and in television commercials, print advertising, in-store promotions and online material. A tagline will read: "Prized around the world. Grown on the Prairies."

The Wheat Board is controlled by western Canadian farmers and sells wheat and barley to more than 70 countries. Its monopoly has come under assault in recent years and the federal government has said it will move to allow farmers to sell to whom they choose.

1 Late Transition. You may have seen commercials about an analog shutdown on August 31. This transition to "all digital" only impacts people that still use an antennas to receive their TV signal. Not to alienate the dozens of people who still adjust their image via wire hanger attached to the back of Uncle Lenny's wheelchair, but a cable-conversion box is available. Now, I'm not the most tech-savvy person in town, but isn't this like adding a Touch-Tone converter to your rotary phone? Hey, it's 2011. People are watching HBO on their wristwatches. You don't have to dance, but the least you could do is come to the party, Huckleberry. Jeez!

2 Amy Winehouse. After two years of supposed sobriety, her European comeback tour began with her "coming back" to rehab. I suddenly thought it ironic that a notorious alcoholic/junkie should be named "Winehouse," but then I discovered that like many immigrants, her parents had changed their name. The original name was "Crackhouse." (My apologies. I couldn't resist.)

3 Drop the puck. Winnipeg's new NHL franchise was unanimously approved by the league's board of governors. Within three days of announcing the sale, the franchise sold 13,000 season tickets. I've always said that the two best things about Winnipeg in the '80s were hockey and Burton Cummings. Now if they combine the two and have him sing every anthem, I'm watching.

4 Disservice with a smile. Two of our nation's most important service providers, Air Canada and Canada Post, went on strike, forcing consumers to employ other alternatives. Unfortunately, Canadians are having a difficult time adjusting, as they are unaccustomed to receiving good service while being treated well at the same time.

5 Royal economics. The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge, in an effort to save taxpayers' money, will reduce the number of valets or dressers on their foreign tour this month. This simply means that instead of the 14 aides with which daddy, Prince Charles, routinely travels, they will tough it out with a mere six or seven. I don't mean to appear ungrateful for the extra McFlurry I can afford with my tax refund in 2013, but I keep getting distracted by repeated footage of their $80-million wedding!

6 Sotto Voce. The Voice has officially eclipsed American Idol in talent, quality and class. Not a single contestant, even in the opening rounds, was there for the sole purpose of public mockery. Every contestant had chops. I also believe they have identified a great new artist in Javier Colon. If you haven't been watching, check him out on YouTube.

7 Who's the boss? Every Springsteen fan knows the story of that stormy night at Asbury Park in 1971 when Bruce met some football player who apparently "played a little sax." And anyone who's seen a Springsteen show recalls Bruce's introduction of the band. Right before breaking into a rendition of Thunder Road, he'd say, "On saxophone, the incomparable, the big man … Clarence Clemons!" Clarence is gone now, but his music remains.

DINOSAURS. Scientists have figured out a way to take the temperature of dinosaurs, and it turns out to be almost the same as ours.

Of course you can't stick a thermometer under the tongue of a creature that's been extinct for millions of years.

So they did the next best thing. They studied dinosaur teeth, which can reflect body temperature.

They found the long-necked Brachiosaurus had a temperature of about 38.2 C and the smaller Camarasaurus had a temperature of about 36.8 C degrees. People average 37 C.

Their study, reported online Thursday in the journal Science, will not settle the long-running debate over whether dinosaurs were warm-blooded like modern mammals or cold-blooded, requiring outside sources of warmth to get them going like lizards.

The researchers were able to determine the creatures' temperatures because body temperature makes a difference in the amount of different types of carbon and oxygen that collect in the tooth enamel.

Holding out for the right one: Man, 99, weds

Gilbert Herrick says he never got married because he never met the right woman — until he turned 98.

Now 99, the Second World War veteran and retired postal worker from western New York recently married 86-year-old Virginia Hartman, a widower who raised five children.

Gilbert tells the Democrat and Chronicle of Rochester that their first encounter was in 2010 in a hall at Monroe Community Hospital, the nursing home where they both live. After that, he started visiting her every day.

Gilbert says they wanted to share a room, but the facility's rules don't allow it unless a couple is married. Hartman asked him if he wanted to tie the knot, he said yes and they were married on June 6 with Hartman's extended family on hand.

Earn Your Diploma Through Summer Study

Summertime where the living is easy – But have you considered taking that summer time and starting a career in a new profession?

This is what happens every year at CDI College of Business, Technology, Health Care where students enjoy the summertime and earn their diploma. Unlike the traditional education system where summer time means the cut-off in June, CDI College operates all year. With many of the programs on a continuous intake, this permits students to start training for their new career now and not wait until September.

Tahl East, Campus Director, explains the program model at CDI College, "We are not a traditional college which starts in September and ends in June. Our programs begin at different times of the year. Many of our programs allow students to start anytime."

The benefit for new graduates is that employers are not faced with a deluge of new job seekers at the end of June. "New employees are available for employers all the time," East explained, "Meaning that employers have a chance at hiring one of our superb CDI College Graduates."

The CDI College selection of programs range from the new Graphic Design program through to strong programs such as Accounting and Payroll and Legal/Medical/Office Administration. In the health care field, Addictions and Community Services Worker, the newer Health Care Aide program join our popular Intra-Oral Dental Assisting. Information technology includes Programmer Analysts, Network Administration and Network Security.

"We have a great selection of new career options that are based on demonstrated employer need in our community," East said noting that all programs are reviewed by employers prior to being offered.

The learning environment is for five hour shifts either in the morning or in the afternoon. There is also an evening/Saturday class for the Additions and Community Services Worker program.

Instructors are experienced and competent in their field. Many of whom bring years of experience to their students. "Our Legal Administrative Assistant instructor is a practicing lawyer while our Health Care Aide instructor is an experienced nurse," East explained.

Academically, CDI College is very strong in its accreditation as a registered private vocational college. Graduates who complete the Accounting and Payroll Administrator Program, also earn a professional designation as a Payroll Compliance Practitioner from the CPA. "In fact our CDI College students have earned Gold and Silver for the Prairie Provinces from the Canadian Payroll Association," East said.

Students in Dental Assisting after graduation are qualified to write the professional examination with the National Dental Assisting Association Examination Board to become a Registered Dental Assistant. Health Care Aides graduate with additional certifications in Non Violent Crisis Intervention, First Aid/CPR and Food Handling. "Our addictions program has additional certifications in Non Violent Crisis Intervention, ASIST (suicide prevention) as well as First Aid and CPR," said East.

With so many programs available at CDI College and convenient enrollment dates, what are you waiting for? Don't wait until September. Come see us at CDI College, this spring and start building your professional career today.

Plot synopsis

- In the new Cameron Diaz movie, Bad Teacher, she plays – you guessed it – a bad teacher! More concerned with hooking up with a wealthy co-worker (played by her real-life ex Justin Timberlake) than with her students, she doesn't make much of an effort to actually educate until she learns there's a cash bonus for the teacher with the highest classroom grade average.

Turn up the raunch

Richard Crouse and Tony Krolo agree Bad Teacher could have afforded more vulgarity ◐ But Cameron Diaz shines, as does her supporting cast

Comedian Tony Krolo is sitting in for Mark Breslin this week.

Richard Crouse: Tony, having seen the red band trailer for Bad Teacher I went in expecting a vulgar, funny swear-fest along the same lines as The Hangover. Instead I got a funny, only somewhat vulgar movie that I think could have benefitted from a bit more raunch. Don't get me wrong, I liked it, but my expectations were higher... or, I guess, lower. What did you think? (Remember you have big shoes to fill here!)

Tony Krolo: First let me thank you for the opportunity to temporarily replace the vacationing Mark Breslin. I wanted to like this movie... so I did. From the opening song Teacher, Teacher by Rockpile, something I still have on original vinyl, to the great casting in even the smallest of roles to the sweet moments followed immediately by gross sight gags to the nicely paced direction by Jake Kasdan, Bad Teacher had a little bit of everything. But it could have had a lot more raunch, you're right.

RC: Yeah, it seems a bit afraid to go all the way. Diaz's character, a desperate, pretty-on-the-outside but ugly underneath is an odd character to hang a comedy on, but she pulls it off. She'll never be the funny, fresh face she was in There's Something About Mary and The Mask, and for this movie that's a good thing. The very slight patina of age and experience in her manner adds some extra desperation to Elizabeth. Having said that, I don't think this movie would work nearly as well without the supporting cast. You?

TK: The cast was incredible. Justin Timberlake really shines here. Jason Segel, John Michael Higgins, Phyllis Smith from The Office, they do their usual, great characters, but Eric Stonestreet from Modern Family played opposite to what you would expect, to really funny results. The only sad thing was the grossly underused Molly Shannon. It's sad. If she was 15 years younger, she'd have been perfect to play Lucy Punch's Amy Squirrel character, who I felt was doing a great Molly Shannon.

RC: The supporting cast don't exactly rescue this movie – it doesn't need rescuing – but without them Bad Teacher wouldn't be nearly as much fun.

TK: It is very funny if you can allow your suspension of disbelief to ignore the premise that Cameron Diaz's character actually worked at the school for a full year and gets hired back to have the shenanigans in this movie.

Cars 2
Genre: Animated
Director: John Lasseter, Brad Lewis
Stars: Larry The Cable Guy, Owen Wilson, Michael Caine
★★½

After Pixar's ambitious work on titles such as Ratatouille and Wall-E, this is a disappointment. The first Cars was arguably the weakest Pixar outing, but it at least had moments of pathos and the mature storytelling.

Cars 2 shoves Lightening McQueen to the sidelines of his own franchise in favour of an ill-conceived James Bond homage starring the comic relief character Mater. The material might have worked as a direct-to-DVD sequel exclusively for children, but as a big-screen outing that will draw in all ages it's a letdown.

The convoluted plot wants to comment on the ruthless tactics of corporations determined to maintain fossil fuel dominance, but quickly turns into an mistaken identity comedy with Larry The Cable Guy playing spy games with Michael Caine.

The jokes are tired and the message about accepting friends in spite of their differences was already covered last time. The animation is stunning and there are a handful of funny sequences, but it's impossible not to compare it to the original movie.

Pixar set the bar pretty high for animated fare and at this point simple family escapism like Cars 2 isn't enough. PHIL BROWN

Thinking big pays off for Gibson

▶ Josh Duhamel plays Lennox and Tyrese Gibson plays Epps in Transformers: Dark of the Moon.

Tyrese Gibson, the handsome singer and actor, thinks big. Making his new film, Transformers: Dark of the Moon, was intense, he says, because "we were working on something the world is anticipating."

Later he mentions Michelle Obama is a fan of his book How to Get Out of Your Own Way. "I'm going to meet her one day."

Gibson doesn't regard these overblown statements as hubris but as simple statements of fact. It's hard to argue with him. The third Transformers movie is one of the most anticipated of the year and his book is on the New York Times Bestseller list. The key to his success is something called "maximizing the stage," he says.

"You want to become or be a part of the things that you see. There is only so much in your life that you can plan out. It's arrogant to believe that the next second belongs to you. Tomorrow is a promise so now that we're here it's about maximizing."

"I shot both Fast Five and Transformers simultaneously over seven months," he says. "Hanging out with Vin Diesel and Paul Walker from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and then getting on a private plane to get to Michael Bay. The same day; two different movie sets. That's a good life right there baby."

Hanks up against summer superheros

- His new comedy, Larry Crowne, faces stiff competition this movie season
- About a middle-aged man who goes back to college after being fired

▶ Julia Roberts and Tom Hanks star in Larry Crowne.

Tom Hanks is the first to admit that Larry Crowne, his new comedy about a middle-aged man who goes back to college after losing his job, is something of a hard sell in the crowded, superhero-heavy summer movie season.

"How do we compete in the marketplace? Forgive me, I haven't the slightest f---ing idea. It's going to be interesting," Hanks says.

"Here we are in a summer of big-time blockbusters. It's not the summer — it's year-round," he says. "You could interview all the marketing gurus and they'll all talk about release dates and counter-programming and blah blah blah. But at the end of the day, it's got to be a good movie, it's got to be a funny movie and it's got to make people think, 'Hey, I couldn't have spent my time any better.'"

A tall order, to be sure. But as director, co-writer and the face of the titular Crowne, Hanks is more than up to the challenge. Besides, he's not actually that worried about the competition. "By the way, that thing about the guy who wore a suit and the planet exploded and he still got the girl by travelling through time? That movie sucked," Hanks says with a laugh. "I'm not saying any movie sucked, but you know what I'm talking about," he's quick to add, his inherent Mr. Nice Guy kicking in.

The story of a man heading to college in his 50s might make most people think midlife crisis, but for Hanks that doesn't begin to cover it. "It's not a midlife crisis, it's a midlife disaster," he says. "Midlife crisis is when you wake up with everything — 'Oh, I have everything but I'm still unhappy.' That doesn't happen to Larry. Larry thinks it's the greatest day in the world and he gets fired."

And while not graduating college did work out OK for Hanks, he is quick to point out that he and his leading lady, Julia Roberts, still remember the tough times, Oscars or no Oscars.

"There is a time for both of us where we're living in a rented house in the Valley that we cannot afford, we have been fired from the job that we had and it's now been 13 months since you've actually worked in the city and the phone still is not yet ringing," Hanks says. "And you wonder if in fact you're going to take the job at the Wienerschnitzel on Laurel Canyon. When you have that moment, that never quite goes away."

It's a full house of poker problems

Tobey Maguire among celebs reportedly caught ante-ing up at unlicensed poker matches Spidey actor caught in a web of lawsuits

Spider-Man star Tobey Maguire and other celebrities have been caught in a web of lawsuits seeking to reclaim more than $4 million won during unlicensed poker matches at upscale Beverly Hills hotels, court records show.

The lawsuits were filed by a bankruptcy trustee attempting to recoup money for investors who were duped in a Ponzi scheme.

The legal actions claim the clandestine Texas Hold 'em matches were played between 2006 and 2009, with some of the money taken in the Ponzi scheme used to pay off debts incurred by its architect, Bradley Ruderman.

Maguire is being sued for $311,000 plus interest that the lawsuit says was won from Ruderman. In all, 22 people have been individually sued to try to recoup money.

Among them was Nick Cassavettes, director of The Notebook. The trustee is attempting to recover nearly $73,000 plus interest from the actor-director.

Maguire's attorney, Robert Barta, did not immediately return a phone message seeking comment but was expected to file a response to the suit later this week.

Cassavettes' agent Jeff Berg also did not immediately respond to a phone message.

Also being sued is billionaire businessman Alec Gores, who along with his brother attempted to buy Miramax Films last year.

Gores is being sued for $445,500. Phone message left for Frank Stefanik, a spokesman at The Gores Group, and his attorney, Patricia Glaser, were not immediately returned.

Ruderman was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison earlier this year after pleading guilty to two counts of wire fraud, two counts of investment adviser fraud and wilful failure to file taxes.

Bankruptcy trustee Howard Ehrenberg filed the lawsuits in late March, attempting to recoup money on behalf of people who invested in what the legal action called a Ponzi scheme organized by Ruderman.

Pizza pie heaven

This pizza takes the Italian favourite to a whole new level Grilling this Sweet Potato and Sausage Pizza infuses delicious smoky flavours

MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Grilling pizza offers a new flavour.

Summer grilling season is a great excuse to give the pizza delivery guy a break. Grilling infuses pizza with a wonderful smoky flavour and a crisp, chewy crust.

But you need to know a few basics.

First, your toppings need to be precooked because the pizza won't be on the grill long enough to cook them there. Second, it's important to start with clean, well-oiled grates because the dough will stick to charred food left on them.

Finally, start by grilling the dough plain until the bottom is lightly browned. Then oil the top, flip and add your sauce and other toppings to finish cooking.

We've opted for a slightly unusual combination of sausage and sweet potato.

Classic sliced tomatoes and mozzarella (with fresh basil thrown on after it comes off the grill) or sauteed peppers, onions and zucchini topped with pepper jack cheese also would be great summery options.

Ingredients:

- 1 medium sweet potato
- 2 sweet or spicy Italian chicken sausage, each cut diagonally into 8 slices
- 1 ball (about 567 g/20 oz) pizza dough
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) olive oil
- 1 ball (500 g/16 oz) fresh mozzarella, sliced
- Salt and ground black pepper, to taste
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) chopped fresh thyme

Preparation:

1. Bring a medium saucepan of water to a boil. Peel sweet potato and slice it into 3-mm (1/8-inch) slices. Drop slices into boiling water and boil until just tender, but not falling apart, 5 to 7 minutes. Drain sweet potatoes, then set aside.
2. Heat grill to medium-high. Grill sausage slices until charred and cooked through, about 3 minutes per side. Remove from grill and set aside.
3. Clean grill grates and brush with oil. Stretch pizza dough into a rough circle, about 35 centimetres in diameter. Reduce grill to medium heat, set dough on grate. Close lid and grill for 7 minutes or until bottom is golden.
4. Brush top of pizza crust with half of olive oil and flip over. Brush again with remaining oil. Top with sweet potato slices, cooked sausage pieces and mozzarella slices. Close grill and cook for 8 minutes or until cheese is melted and bottom of crust is golden and crispy. Remove from grill and sprinkle with salt, pepper and thyme.

Not quite white, not yet red

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA

When you're a wine it's not that easy being pink. Caught between a red and a white place you're often accused of being designed for folks looking to take a step up from coolers.

Though California's White Zinfandel may be the best known pinky, Europe and South America have long histories of making rosé wines.

Theirs are typically drier with crisp berry fruit flavours. Light in acid and tannin they make a perfect match with pasta with tomato sauce and pizza, as well as grilled meats.

That harmony between body and fruit also gives them an edge over red wines when looking for a liquid partner for white meats and fresh fish; and they pair nicely with Asian dishes and brunch items.

Selection varies, with a wine like Folonari's 2010 Pink Pinot Grigio ($11.95 - $12.99) from Italy, a soft, strawberry-infused twist on the world's most popular white grape variety.

Thrown into the fire

Winnipeg front office faces whirlwind weekend and chance to improve team at NHL draft

Everything is happening so quickly for Winnipeg's new NHL team these days that assistant general manager Craig Heisinger feels like time is passing in a blur.

The franchise has rapidly started taking shape after officially releasing its schedule on Thursday and calling a press conference Friday morning where Claude Noel will reportedly be unveiled as coach — hours before making its first draft selection.

With so much to do, the biggest challenge facing the hockey operations staff has been trying not to hurry through any big decisions.

"I don't know how we don't be rushed at this time," Heisinger said Thursday. "But if we're careful, meticulous, stop, think and make sound decisions — hopefully we'll make fewer mistakes than more."

The team said it would make a "significant hockey operations announcement" on Friday and Heisinger refused to comment on the multiple reports Noel had been selected as the team's coach.

The two men worked together with the AHL's Manitoba Moose last season, but the hiring only comes after GM Kevin Cheveldayoff and Heisinger sat down for interviews with other potential candidates.

This weekend's draft in Minnesota marks an extremely important moment for a franchise that intends to build from the ground up. Heisinger identified it as the top off-season priority for the front office and the team should be able to grab a pretty good player with the seventh overall pick.

The Winnipeg brass expects to have to make a quick decision when they're called to the stage.

"In all likelihood, it will be a game-time decision," said Heisinger. "We obviously have identified what we think we need to do for our group. We'll see how it goes with the six teams in front of us and go from there."

After all the work that has been done to land the NHL team, it promises to be a proud moment when Winnipeg takes centre stage and select its first prospect.

"I think it'll be exhilarating, especially for our ownership group," said Heisinger. "They've put a lot of time and effort, not to mention money, into making this dream a reality."

Exciting opener

The NHL's return to Winnipeg became more real on Thursday with the release of the 2011-12 schedule.

- Winnipeg will play its first regular season game against Montreal at MTS Centre on Oct. 9.
- "That was something that the league stood up and felt they were passionate about — getting a real high profile opponent on opening night," said assistant general manager Craig Heisinger.
- They then head out on the road for two games before returning to face Sidney Crosby's Pittsburgh Penguins on Oct. 17.

Riot casts shadow over Grey Cup

CFL EXTRA POINTS

DAN TOTH
LONDON@METRONEWS.CA

Tickets for the 2011 Grey Cup in Vancouver — one of Canada's biggest annual parties — went on sale this week and already organizers face a problem.

While cup seats come with plenty of perks, common sense and civility aren't among them. Most years the game and related boozing goes off without a hitch. A handful of drunks end up in jail, but nobody gets hurt and widespread hooliganism is non-existent.

In Vancouver's case, hot on the heels of the riots and the smell of burned cop cars after Game 7 of the Stanley Cup final, there must be some concern of a repeat performance tied to the 99th Grey Cup game at B.C. Place Stadium.

The facility is in the shadows of where the infamous rioting took place, and with 60,000 football fans pouring into the streets after the Nov. 27 championship game, organizers are sweating.

Listen in. Give TSN full credit for using live microphones on players and coaches Thursday night for the first time during a CFL pre-season game.

Giving fans a chance to hear play calls and sideline chatter live as it happens has been lacking from sports broadcasts.

While we see players and coaches having face-to-face rants, we're usually relegated to listening to the talking heads in the broadcast booth offer their version of what's being said.

The experiment during the Toronto Argonauts at Winnipeg Blue Bombers had live microphones on Argos head coach Jim Barker and Blue Bombers head coach Paul LaPolice. The quarterbacks were also wired up, giving the TV faithful at home live unedited audio from the huddle and the sidelines.

Kicking around. Kicker Sandro DeAngelis will start the third chapter of his CFL career with Montreal, which is not only good for the Alouettes but the league and its fans will benefit too.

Yes, DeAngelis has a mouth even larger than his ego, but getting released by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats after just one season should bring the former all-star down a notch.

The very quotable DeAngelis last season posted a career-low 76.2 per cent success rate on field goals, but a year before he was a West Division all-star with the Calgary Stampeders.

He was once considered the CFL's most reliable kicker during his five seasons and a Grey Cup title in Calgary, but after signing with Hamilton as a free agent in 2010, he converted just 32 of 42 field-goal attempts and was considered an overpaid failure.

Many CFL fans will want to see him fail, but his colourful persona, while irritating to some, makes the CFL that much more entertaining.

Cavs take Irving with top pick

Kyrie Irving travelled just a few kilometres down the road to become the No. 1 pick in the NBA draft.

The players that followed him came from across the globe.

The Cleveland Cavaliers selected Irving with the No. 1 pick in a draft filled with internationals, confident his foot is healthy enough to lead the rebuilding effort that follows LeBron James' departure.

Three of the first six players taken were from Europe, capitalizing on the absence of some American college players who might have gone in their spots and made this a stronger draft. It was the first time four international players who didn't play at a U.S. college were selected in the lottery.

After grabbing Irving with their first No. 1 pick since taking James in 2003, the Cavs used the No. 4 selection on Canadian forward Tristan Thompson. They were the first team since the 1983 Houston Rockets with two top-four picks. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Send a KISS

You can now post your kiss, and read even more kisses, online at metronews.ca/kiss.

Dear chico, you are lovely inside and out. Have a great last day! LOVE POO POO

Kali,
Usted es la única mujer para mí, I will always love you. ROBOTIC DINOSAUR BOY

Peter, Had a wife and could-n't keep her soooooooooooo HE MAR-RIES another one ? When? Someday? Oh really!!! PUMPKIN

Mike My Spanish Boy
The universe stopped from reaching you, just like you did on Tuesday. The kisses, the love, the connection, I have always felt the same way. Now I am straight in Metro office, trying to send this once again (for the 40th time in the last 3 days). Come back. NIKITA

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Don't do anything that might set off a war of words, or a flood of tears with friends or loved ones.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 It may be a carefree time, but don't think you can do as you please.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 There's money to be made this weekend, but if you take silly chances you could also lose money.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 This is your time of year. You must make the most of it, but you must also be conscious of your limits.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 High expectations are good but you also need to keep your feet on the ground.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 You may think you can take on the world but you wouldn't be wise to expect too much of yourself now.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 The moment success starts to go to your head is the moment your luck will start heading south.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 It's not like you to be outrageous but you've just got to do something to break the cycle of boredom.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 If you want to get things done, you'll have to work closely with others.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Slow down a bit and catch your breath. If you don't, health-wise, that's asking for trouble.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Be selective about your ambitions — and be ruthless with how you manage your time. SALLY BROMPTON
